JMDC Merit Badge Program

Scouts interested in earning a BSA Merit Badge need to be prepared. This means they should review the two BSA National links above to be completely familiar with the BSA Merit Badge Program and the BSA Merit Badge requirements for their selected merit badge.

On the day of the merit badge program each Scout should have a copy of the merit badge book with them. They should be prepared to discuss, explain and engage in program topic discussions to meet the BSA National requirements. If something is required to be written, it should be done prior to the program so it can be evaluated and discussed with the Merit Badge Counselor. Additionally, Scouts should have several of the BSA 10 essentials with them. Something to drink, snack, and be ready to go outside if the Counselor decides to.

What uniform to wear is up to the Scout's Unit. Regardless of Unit policy JMDC is a family facility and we ask that clothing be family friendly. Rugged closed toe footwear is strongly recommended and in some cases may be required.

Section 7.0.4.11 in the link under BSA Merit Badge Program addresses prerequisites.
